How to use this guide

A working manual: apply each page to one real offer as you read.

Choose one practice project

Use your own business, a client project you have permission to use, or an Illustrative Example. Keep the same project throughout the worksheets. This makes your final plan coherent.

Three passes

- Pass 1 - Decide: define the audience, offer, action and channel on pages 4-9.
- Pass 2 - Build: create one destination, one content asset and a measurement plan on pages 10-18.
- Pass 3 - Run: follow the 30-day plan and use the diagnostic sheet before scaling.

REALITY CHECK

Marketing results depend on the offer, market, execution, budget, follow-up and measurement quality. No channel or template guarantees sales. All sample businesses, messages and figures in this book are Illustrative Examples unless a source is listed.

Conventions: “Do this” is a recommended workflow, not a platform rule. Interfaces, available features and policy details can change; verify settings in the official help pages cited at the end.

MAP

Contents

Use this route from strategy to execution.

PART	PAGES	OUTPUT
01 / Foundation	4-8	Audience, offer, journey and channel choice
02 / Build	9-16	Research, destination, organic, search, messaging and ads
03 / Measure	17-19	Tracking, scorecard and diagnosis
04 / Execute	20-23	Four-week action plan
05 / Assets	24-27	Briefs, templates, scripts and checklists
06 / Reference	28-29	Terms, sources and next steps

THE CENTRAL RULE

Start with a measurable customer action. Work backwards to the audience, promise, destination and channel. A campaign is useful only if someone knows what action it should produce and how to verify it.

01 / FOUNDATION

The marketing system

Digital marketing is a connected customer journey, not a list of apps.

STAGE	CUSTOMER QUESTION	YOUR JOB
Discover	Is this relevant to me?	Name the problem in the customer's language.
Evaluate	Can I trust this?	Show proof, clarity, fit and useful detail.
Act	What happens next?	Give one clear, low-friction next step.
Return	Should I come back?	Follow up helpfully and learn from feedback.

Start with a one-line plan

FILL THIS IN

We help [specific audience] achieve [desired outcome] through [offer and mechanism]. The next action is [one action]. We will know it works when [quality measure] improves.

Illustrative Example: "We help Surat factory owners evaluate rooftop solar options through a site assessment. The next action is a qualified consultation request. We will review booked consultations and accepted proposals, not only message count."

01 / FOUNDATION

Find a usable audience

A useful segment has a shared situation, decision trigger and obstacle.

The five-field audience card

FIELD	WRITE A SPECIFIC ANSWER
Who	Role, location and context; e.g., owner of a small Surat manufacturing unit.
Trigger	What happened that made the need timely?
Job	What is the customer trying to accomplish?
Friction	What uncertainty, effort or risk stops action?
Language	What words would they use in a question or search?

Collect evidence before copywriting

- Read existing inquiries, reviews, sales-call notes and search queries. Separate what customers said from your interpretation.
- Interview three to five people if accessible. Ask: “What made you look now?” “What alternatives did you consider?” “What would make you confident?”
- Record exact phrases without including private customer data in public examples.

WORKSHEET

Audience: _____ Trigger: _____ Desired result: _____ Main objection: _____ Exact phrase: _____
Evidence source/date: _____

01 / FOUNDATION

Make the offer easy to judge

An offer explains what is delivered, for whom and what happens next.

WEAK	STRONGER AND TESTABLE
Best digital marketing services	A 20-minute audit of your current lead journey, with three prioritized fixes.
Premium course for everyone	A beginner guide to setting up one measured campaign and reviewing its first results.
Call now for details	Book a consultation; we will ask about your site, timeline and budget range.

Offer clarity checklist

- Outcome: what specific progress can the customer expect from the deliverable?
- Scope: what is included, excluded and how long does it take?
- Proof: show a real sample, process, qualification, demo or policy you can verify.
- Friction: state price or starting scope when useful; explain the next step and response expectations.

ONE-SENTENCE OFFER BUILDER

For [audience] facing [problem], we provide [deliverable] through [process]. Start by [single CTA].

01 / FOUNDATION

Map the customer journey

Create an asset for each question instead of repeating the same sales post.

MOMENT	ASSET	SIGNAL TO WATCH
Problem recognition	Short explainer or relatable example	Relevant visits, saves, qualified replies
Option comparison	Checklist, FAQ, comparison page	Engaged visits, return visits, questions
Decision	Offer page, sample, consultation	Qualified leads, orders, bookings
After action	Onboarding, helpful follow-up	Attendance, repeat purchase, referrals

A simple path

ILLUSTRATIVE EXAMPLE - LOCAL CLASS

Instagram Reel about a beginner's first sewing project → course page with batch timings and location → enquiry form with preferred batch → staff calls and records visit booked → enrollment status reviewed weekly.

This path exposes gaps. If enquiries arrive but visits do not, improve response and qualification before increasing spend. If visits arrive but enrolments do not, inspect offer clarity, experience and objections.

01 / FOUNDATION

Choose channels on purpose

Pick one primary acquisition channel and one supporting channel to start.

SITUATION	LIKELY STARTING POINT	WHY
Existing high-intent search	Search content or search ads	The customer is already looking for a solution.
Visual product or skill	Short video and social proof	Demonstration helps people judge fit.
Local service	Business Profile + helpful site page	Location and credibility matter.
Known audience and repeat offers	Permission-based email / messaging	Direct follow-up can support a longer decision.

Channel scorecard

Score each candidate 1-5 for audience presence, intent, asset fit, execution capacity and measurement. Do not treat the total as scientific; use it to expose assumptions. Revisit after four weeks of real signals.

AVOID THE COMMON TRAP

Do not launch five channels because five are available. A small team often learns faster by finishing one customer path and recording what broke.

02 / BUILD

Research a market in 90 minutes

Collect observations that directly change your message or offer.

TIME	ACTION	CAPTURE
20 min	Search 8-10 customer phrases	Intent, recurring questions and page types
20 min	Review 5 competing offers	Promise, proof, friction and next step
20 min	Read public reviews and FAQs	Real objections and desired outcomes
15 min	Inspect your own enquiries	Where prospects stall or misunderstand
15 min	Write three hypotheses	What to test and what would disprove each

Research note template

COPY AND FILL

Observation: _____ Source/date: _____ Customer phrase: _____ Interpretation: _____ Proposed change: _____ Signal to check: _____

A competitor's visible ad is evidence that it is running, not evidence that it is profitable. Do not copy claims, testimonials or creative assets.

02 / BUILD

Build a destination that converts

Every ad, post and search result needs a useful place to land.

One-page structure

- Hero: name the offer, the audience and the next action in the first screen.
- Fit: explain who this is for and who it may not suit.
- Details: outline the process, deliverables, timeline, price or enquiry path.
- Proof: use verifiable work samples, real reviews with permission, credentials or a transparent process.
- Objections: answer cost, time, eligibility, delivery and support questions.
- CTA: repeat the same action after major sections; make the form short but useful.

MOBILE QA IN FIVE MINUTES

Open the page on a phone. Can you read the headline without zooming? Is the CTA visible? Does the form submit? Does the thank-you state the next step? Does the phone/WhatsApp link open correctly?

For a lead business, test the full path with a test submission and confirm that someone receives and can respond to it.

02 / BUILD

Organic content with a job

Each post should answer one real question and move to one next step.

PILLAR	EXAMPLE ANGLE	CTA
Explain	What happens in a consultation?	See the process page
Compare	Two suitable options and trade-offs	Use a checklist
Demonstrate	A short before-and-after process walkthrough	View a sample
Objection	Who is not a good fit?	Ask a specific question

The post brief

COPY AND FILL

Audience + trigger: _____ One question: _____ Hook (specific, truthful): _____ Three useful points: _____
Proof/visual: _____ One CTA: _____ Metric to review: _____

Write a script before designing. A useful short video can follow: problem → one insight → demonstration → next action. Avoid a long logo intro and claims that cannot be substantiated.

Repurpose without duplicating

Turn one FAQ into a 30-second explainer, a carousel checklist and a longer site answer. Adapt the opening and format to the channel; keep the underlying answer accurate.

02 / BUILD

Search and local visibility

Serve a query with a page that genuinely answers it.

Search page workflow

- Choose one customer question or service intent for each page. Write a clear title and heading in natural language.
- Answer the question early; include scope, process, examples and common follow-up questions.
- Make important pages easy to reach through navigation and relevant internal links.
- Check whether pages are indexed and which queries bring traffic in Search Console. Google's SEO Starter Guide is the reference for fundamentals [1].

Local business workflow

If the business qualifies for a Google Business Profile, complete accurate business details, hours, category, photos and review responses. Google says complete and accurate information helps local visibility [2]. Never create fake reviews or misrepresent a location.

PAGE OUTLINE

Title: _____ Customer intent: _____ Direct answer: _____ Proof: _____ FAQ: _____ CTA: _____ Internal link from: _____

02 / BUILD

Email and messaging follow-up

Use direct channels to help a person make a decision, with permission and restraint.

MESSAGE	PURPOSE	CONTENT
Welcome	Confirm context	What they requested; useful resource; next step
Help	Resolve one objection	Specific answer, example or checklist
Decision	Invite action	Clear offer, scope and contact route
After action	Support experience	Instructions, expectations and help route

A practical first reply

ILLUSTRATIVE EXAMPLE - ENQUIRY

“Hi [name], thanks for asking about [offer]. To suggest the right option, could you share [one relevant question]? Here is a short overview: [link]. If helpful, choose a call slot here: [link].”

Record consent and the source of contact details. Offer a simple way to stop promotional messages. Applicable Indian privacy and messaging rules can change; check current official guidance and platform policies before collecting or sending at scale [8].

02 / BUILD

Paid media: prepare before spend

Advertising amplifies an offer and a customer path. It does not repair a broken path.

Launch gate

- One clear goal: purchase, qualified enquiry, booking or another business action.
- A destination and follow-up process tested end to end.
- Tracking that records the intended action without counting duplicates.
- Three distinct creative ideas, not just three colors of the same message.
- A learning budget and review date that the business can actually sustain.

Choose the objective by the action

On Meta, choose the campaign setup that aligns with the intended destination and result; available options and interfaces vary. On Google Ads, configure conversion measurement for actions that matter before relying on conversion-based bidding [3][4].

ILLUSTRATIVE EXAMPLE - BUDGET LOGIC

If the business can spend ₹300 per day for 14 days, the planned media spend is ₹4,200. This is arithmetic for planning, not a performance prediction. Include creative, landing-page and follow-up work separately.

02 / BUILD

Search ads and social ads

The message, targeting and review method should match the customer's state.

	SEARCH ADS	SOCIAL ADS
Typical entry	A query signals active intent	An audience sees a relevant idea in-feed
First test	Tightly related query themes and matching page	Distinct hooks, visuals and offer angles
Main risk	Irrelevant searches or weak landing match	Weak creative or unclear offer
Review	Search terms, conversion quality, page behavior	Creative response, conversion quality, follow-up

Write the test before launch

EXPERIMENT CARD

Hypothesis: _____ Audience/intent: _____ Variable changed: _____ Primary action: _____ Quality check: _____ Review date: _____ Decision rule: _____

Change one major variable at a time when possible. Record the date and reason for edits. A tiny sample is noisy; do not declare a winner from one isolated lead or one day of results.

02 / BUILD

Creative that earns attention

Specificity, relevance and proof are more useful than loud claims.

Four angles to test

ANGLE	ILLUSTRATIVE HOOK
Problem	"Still answering the same sizing question in every DM?"
Process	"Here is what happens after you book a site assessment."
Comparison	"Two course formats: which fits a working student?"
Objection	"What you need before starting a home sewing course."

A 20-second script template

VIDEO SCRIPT

0-3 sec: name a real situation. 3-10 sec: show one useful point or demonstration. 10-16 sec: explain the offer or proof. 16-20 sec: give one clear next step. Timing is a production template, not a platform rule.

- Check claims, language, spelling, contrast and safe cropping for each placement.
- Show the actual product, process or workspace when available and permitted.
- Make the CTA match the destination exactly; do not promise a free consultation and land on an unrelated sales page.

03 / MEASURE

Measure the customer action

Traffic, leads and revenue are different layers of evidence.

LAYER	EXAMPLE	QUESTION
Reach	Impressions, views	Did the message get delivered?
Engagement	Clicks, useful replies	Did the right people respond?
Action	Form submit, booked call, purchase	Did the intended step happen?
Quality	Qualified lead, attended call, accepted proposal	Was the action valuable?

Set up a measurement map

In GA4, a meaningful event can be marked as a key event; Google Ads can measure its own conversions or use eligible imported Analytics key events [3][5]. Test a real submission or purchase path and check that the right event fires once. Platform and analytics totals may differ because their attribution and reporting methods differ.

UTM NAMING PATTERN

Use consistent campaign links such as `utm_source=instagram&utm_medium=paid_social&utm_campaign=course_launch`. Keep a naming sheet and do not tag internal site links. Google documents custom campaign URLs [6].

03 / MEASURE

A weekly scorecard

One row per campaign and one decision per review.

CAMPAIGN	SPEND	ACTIONS	QUALITY	NEXT DECISION
Example A	₹___	___ leads	___ qualified	Keep / improve / pause
Example B	₹___	___ sales	₹___ revenue	Keep / improve / pause
Organic	Time: ___	___ enquiries	___ relevant	Repeat / revise

Calculate only what you can interpret

- Cost per qualified lead = spend ÷ qualified leads. If qualified leads = 0, mark “not available”; do not divide by zero.
- Lead-to-booking rate = booked calls ÷ leads, using the same cohort and period.
- Revenue per ad spend = attributed revenue ÷ spend. It is not profit; include product costs, fees and fulfilment when assessing business value.

REVIEW NOTE

What changed? _____ What did we learn? _____ What will we change next? _____ When will we review? _____

Use both platform reports and the business’s own lead or order records. A campaign with cheap enquiries can still be expensive if the enquiries are irrelevant.

03 / MEASURE

Diagnose before changing

Follow the signal chain from delivery to business outcome.

SYMPTOM	CHECK FIRST	POSSIBLE RESPONSE
Few relevant visits	Targeting, hook, query match	Clarify the audience and opening.
Visits, few actions	Page load, offer, CTA, trust	Test the full mobile path and rewrite the first screen.
Leads, low quality	Message promise, form fields	State fit and price/scope more clearly.
Quality leads, few sales	Speed, follow-up, objections	Review calls and response workflow.
Reported actions look wrong	Event configuration, duplicates	Test tags and compare to source records.

DECISION DISCIPLINE

Diagnose one bottleneck at a time. Capture a baseline, record the edit and review enough relevant events to learn. Pausing or changing an ad is a decision, not an explanation of why performance changed.

04 / EXECUTE

30-day plan / Week 1

Define the project and remove ambiguity.

DAY	TASK	DELIVERABLE
1	Choose one project and one business action	One-line objective
2	Interview or review customer language	Audience card
3	List objections and decision triggers	Research notes
4	Audit competing offers and your current path	Gap list
5	Write the offer and single CTA	Offer statement
6	Map discover → evaluate → act	Journey map
7	Choose one main and one support channel	Channel rationale

END-OF-WEEK GATE

Can you name the target customer, their decision trigger, the offer and the one action to measure without referring to a platform feature? If not, revise the brief before building assets.

04 / EXECUTE

30-day plan / Week 2

Build a path that works on a phone.

DAY	TASK	DELIVERABLE
8	Outline a page or profile destination	Section wireframe
9	Write headline, scope, FAQ and CTA	Page copy
10	Add real samples/process proof	Proof block
11	Create enquiry/order and thank-you flow	Working destination
12	Set up analytics and action event	Measurement map
13	Test links, forms and event once	QA log
14	Fix friction found in a mobile walk-through	Approved launch path

END-OF-WEEK GATE

A test visitor should understand the offer, take the action and receive a clear next step. Your team should receive the action and be able to follow up.

04 / EXECUTE

30-day plan / Week 3

Publish useful messages and run one controlled test.

DAY	TASK	DELIVERABLE
15	Write four customer questions	Content backlog
16	Create two distinct content assets	Drafts
17	Publish first asset with tagged link	Live asset
18	Write three creative/offer angles	Test matrix
19	Set up one paid test if budget allows	Campaign draft
20	Check objective, destination and tracking	Launch QA
21	Publish second asset; review feedback	Observation log

BUDGET-FREE ROUTE

If paid spend is unavailable, use the same experiment card for two organic hooks or page openings. Keep the audience, destination and outcome definition as stable as possible.

04 / EXECUTE

30-day plan / Week 4

Review quality, improve and document the next cycle.

DAY	TASK	DELIVERABLE
22	Check delivery, links and form records	QA note
23	Classify enquiries by fit and question	Lead quality notes
24	Review customer replies and sales friction	Objection list
25	Improve one weak step in the path	Version 2
26	Publish a useful FAQ answer	New asset
27	Recheck tracking and source records	Clean scorecard
28	Compare original hypothesis to evidence	Learning note
29	Choose keep, improve or pause	Decision record
30	Write the next four-week plan	Prioritized backlog

COMPLETION STANDARD

You have a working customer path, tested tracking, at least two useful assets, a scorecard and a documented next decision. Results may still be inconclusive; that is an honest finding.

05 / ASSETS

Launch and audit checklists

Use these before spending and during the first review.

Pre-launch

- Offer, audience and CTA match across creative and destination.
- Spelling, factual claims, terms and visual crop checked.
- Mobile page loads and all buttons/forms work.
- Test action reaches the team and is recorded once.
- Campaign naming, UTM values, date and owner recorded.

Weekly audit

- Compare platform-reported actions with actual enquiries/orders.
- Sample lead quality; note common questions and objections.
- Look for one dominant bottleneck in the journey.

DO NOT PUBLISH

Fabricated testimonials, invented statistics, guaranteed outcomes, misleading urgency or a price/offer that differs from the destination.

05 / ASSETS

Client or team handoff

Keep campaign work understandable after the original creator leaves.

FILE	MINIMUM CONTENT
Strategy brief	Audience, offer, objective, channel choice and assumptions
Asset register	Links to approved creative, copy, landing pages and rights

Change log	Date, change, reason, owner and result
Weekly report	Actions, quality, spend/time, insight and next decision

A useful update message

When handing over a client account, confirm access through the client's own business assets and document the ownership of pixels/tags, domains, leads and creative files. Avoid sharing passwords in messages.

KEEP THIS GUIDE CURRENT

Platform interfaces, policies and legal commencement dates can change. Recheck official documentation before implementation. This guide gives general education, not legal, tax or financial advice.

Make the next decision clearer.

A useful marketing system starts with a real customer question, gives a clear next step and measures whether that step mattered.

01 Choose one audience and action.

02 Build one complete customer path.

03 Measure quality, then improve.
